European funding programmes

Responsible Research and Innovation (RRI) was established in European research and innovation policy in 2010, with the aim of aligning both process and outcomes of research & innovation with values, needs, and expectations of society.

In industry, and especially SMEs, the concept of RRI is quite new. In total, 130 RRI projects have been funded by European programmes, of which 34 express an explicit focus on industry. There has been little involvement of SMEs in EU funded RRI projects.
